

Case 1: You have received screenshot of a chat and your best friend is spreading your secrets and insulting you. (behind your back)

① face her and try to understand WHY?

② Just ignore and try to recover from what she did.

Choice 1: She tells you that you were always the loved one and that she hated being around you. But you realized what was inside you.

Choice 2: You will start crying and locking yourself for losing a close friend.

Case 2: A friend stole a private picture for you and your family from your phone and spread them.

① you'll face her/him aggressively and fight because of this breach of Privacy

② try to delete the pictures from whoever took it and report

Choice 1: You'll have a serious fight and will be both go to the Police station for the serious injuries

Choice 2: You will manage to delete them and apologize to your family and will no longer see her/him because of the report you did as her she will be punished legally.

Case 3: Being Married or in a relationship for more than 2 years and receive a picture / or see the partner with another one.

① Be aggressive, angry, show emotions and cry in front of the partner and beg him not to leave you and stay with the other one.

② Leave quietly and seek help from a parent or something and quit the relationship.

③ Listen and give another chance.

Choice ①: It will blame you for the betrayal and decide to leave without even looking back at you and that will cause depression.

Choice ②: This will give you more time to think and take the right decision.

Choice ③: You decided to give a second chance and he/she appreciated that and decided to start a new page.